Why was six scared of seven? Because seven ate nine!

Richard is a hardworking motivated man. He worked hard in college and got a degree in Computer Engineering which lead him to a new job in Richmond Virginia. While Richard makes decent money, he hates having to doing things other people's way and his weasel boss. Richard dreams of one day owning his own company and never taking orders from a douche again. Richard had many friends in college but since moving to a new city, he finds himself with no one to talk to about his life. This is depressing for Richard and over time, he has become nervous to make new friends. He drinks every weekend and watches shows and movies that him and his old friends used to watch.
